

Review

Particulate Guanylyl Cyclase A/cGMP Signaling Pathway in the Kidney: Physiologic and Therapeutic Indications

Yang Chen ^{1,2,*} and John C. Burnett ²

¹ Biochemistry & Molecular Biology Graduate Program, Mayo Graduate School, Rochester, MN 55905, USA

² Cardiorenal Research Laboratory, Department of Cardiovascular Medicine, Mayo Clinic, Rochester, MN 55905, USA; burnett.john@mayo.edu

* Correspondence: chen.yang@mayo.edu; Tel.: +1-507-284-4343

REVIEW

GURAMRINDER S. THIND, MD
Resident, Department of Internal Medicine,
Western Michigan University School of Medicine, Kalamazoo

MARK LOEHRKE, MD, FACP
Chair and Associate Program Director,
Department of Internal Medicine; Associate Professor of Medicine, Western Michigan
University School of Medicine, Kalamazoo

JEFFREY L. WILT, MD, FACP, FCCP
Director, Medical Critical Care Services, Borgess
Medical Center, Kalamazoo MI; Associate Professor of Medicine and Director, Pulmonary and Critical Care Curriculum, Western Michigan University School
of Medicine, Kalamazoo

Acute cardiorenal syndrome: Mechanisms and clinical implications

- Cari auguri di Serena Pasqua

- Arrivederci ad Aprile con tutte le news

